Civic Innovation Hub

Area of Oversight

Finance, Audit &
Risk Governance

Mrs. Catherine Mareya-Chiviya is a Trustee of the Africa Governance and Civic Innovation Hub (AGCIH), where she holds responsibility for financial governance, audit oversight, and organisational risk stewardship. She brings to the Board a rigorous commitment to transparent financial systems, sound resource management, and the institutional accountability frameworks that underpin credibility in the public and development sectors.

In her trustee capacity, Mrs. Mareya-Chiviya ensures that AGCIH maintains strong financial controls and that its resource management practices are aligned with the standards expected of an independent governance institution operating across multiple stakeholder environments. Her oversight extends to audit readiness, financial reporting integrity, and the responsible stewardship of organisational assets — functions that are essential to sustaining the confidence of AGCIH's partners, funders, and the institutions it engages.

Mrs. Mareya-Chiviya brings a practitioner's understanding of how financial governance underpins institutional resilience. Her work on the Board reflects a recognition that governance credibility is inseparable from financial discipline — and that institutions which seek to hold others accountable must themselves maintain demonstrably sound internal systems.

Her appointment strengthens AGCIH's board architecture by ensuring that its financial and risk functions are subject to independent, expert oversight — positioning the institution to operate with the rigour and transparency that its mandate demands.
